The following describes the reasonable investigation of nonuse conducted, including how and when searches were conducted and what the searches disclosed, and provides a factual statement of the basis for cancellation:

1. The undersigned has conducted a reasonable investigation and found no evidence that 7 Stitches, LLC ("Registrant") has ever used in commerce or licensed another to use in commerce the SURFSTAR WAKE & Design trademark (the "Trademark") in connection with the entirety of the registered goods, i.e., "Boat parts, namely, wakeboard towers."
2. A wakeboard tower is a vertical structure that sits atop a boat, usually spanning from one side to the other, and typically including an elevated tow point for attaching a tow rope that a wakeboarder holds onto as he or she is pulled along behind the boat. The upward pull provided by the elevated tow point helps the wakeboarder "pop" up off of the boat's wake and increases air time. Examples of wakeboard towers (none of which bear the Trademark) are shown in attached Exhibit 1.
3. Registrant submitted two specimens with its application, filed July 11, 2016, which it described as "Thank you pamphlet with device." The specimens are attached as Exhibits 2 and 3.
4. The first specimen, Exhibit 2, appears to be a screenshot from the webpage <http://surfstarwake.com/index.html>. For comparison, attached as Exhibit 4 is an archived version of that same webpage as captured by Wayback Machine on September 2, 2016.
5. Neither Exhibit 1 nor Exhibit 4 show use of the Trademark in connection with a wakeboard tower. Rather, both exhibits allude to a wake-shaping device that can be attached to the hull of an inboard boat to create a wave for wakesurfing. Exhibit 4 shows the device, called "SurfStar Universal," attached to the hull of a boat.
6. The second specimen, Exhibit 3, appears to show the same wake-shaping device shown in Exhibit 4, except detached from a boat.
7. At most, the submitted specimens, Exhibits 2 and 3, show use of the Trademark in connection with a wake-shaping device that attaches to the hull of a boat—not in connection with a wakeboard tower.
8. On January 12 and 13, 2022, the undersigned conducted a thorough investigation of available sources and all evidence points to the conclusion that Registrant has only ever used the Trademark in connection with a wake-shaping device, tee shirts, and tank tops, and never in connection with a wakeboard tower.
9. As discussed further below, the undersigned's investigation included a review of archived pages from the surfstarwake.com website from 2016-2019 (the website is no longer functional and Wayback Machine does not have any archived versions after 2019); a review of Registrant's Facebook, Instagram, and YouTube pages; and a Google search for the terms "SURFSTAR WAKE" and "tower," which returned no relevant hits.

10. Exhibit 4, discussed above, is an archived version of the webpage <http://surfstarwake.com/index.html> as captured by Wayback Machine on September 2, 2016. This is believed to have been the landing page for the website surfstarwake.com, where visitors were directed upon visiting the site. As of September 2, 2016, the surfstarwake.com website offered for sale the “SurfStar Universal” wake-shaping device at a price of $299.99-$314.99. See Exhibits 4 and 5. The webpage also offered for sale “swag,” specifically, “SurfStar” tee shirts and tank tops. See Exhibits 4 and 6. As of September 2, 2016, the surfstarwake.com website did not offer for sale or advertise any wakeboard towers.
11. Exhibit 4 is the earliest archived version of the <http://surfstarwake.com/index.html> webpage available on Wayback Machine. See Exhibit 7. Wayback Machine captured this webpage 29 times between September 2016 and September 2019. See id. The undersigned has reviewed each archived version and, except for dropping “swag” and adding wakesurf and wakeboard lessons in 2018, the webpage did not materially change during that time. See Exhibit 8 (archived version captured January 7, 2018, no longer offering “swag”); Exhibit 9 (archived version captured September 6, 2018, offering wakesurf and wakeboard lessons for the first time); Exhibit 10 (last archived version captured September 17, 2019). At no time during the period captured (September 2016– September 2019) did the surfstarwake.com website ever offer for sale or advertise a wakeboard tower.
12. The archived versions of the surfstarwake.com website state “Follow us on Facebook, Instagram & YouTube.” See Exhibits 4, 8, 9, and 10. These social media sites, together with the surfstarwake.com website, are believed to have been Registrant’s primary if not exclusive channels of trade and advertising.
13. Registrant’s Facebook page (facebook.com/SurfStarWake) still exists, but has not been updated since August 13, 2018. See Exhibit 11. The page states: “We sell a universal quick connect wake shaper that allows you to wakesurf ANY inboard ski boat. Visit our website for a full description. SurfStarWake.com.” Id. The page includes photographs of the wake-shaping device and the wakes that it creates, but does not offer for sale or advertise any wakeboard towers. See id.
14. Registrant’s Instagram page (instagram.com/surfstarwake) also still exists, but the most recent post is dated September 8, 2020. See Exhibit 12. The page provides a link to Registrant’s website www.surfstarwake.com and states: “We specialize in a quick connect wake shaper device that allows you to any inboard ski boat!” Id. Like Registrant’s Facebook page, the Instagram page includes photographs of the wake-shaping device and the wakes that it creates, but does not offer for sale or advertise any wakeboard towers. See id.
15. Registrant also has a YouTube channel. See Exhibit 13. The “ABOUT” page provides a link to SurfStarWake.com and describes the “SurfStar Universal” wake-shaping device, including that it can “[q]uickly attach to your inboard boat to create the perfect wakesurf wave on either side” and “[w]hen done surfing, SurfStar Universal folds to under 4” for compact storage or transport.” Exhibit 14. Registrant’s YouTube channel includes a video showing how to install and remove the wake-shaping device. See Exhibit 15. (video playable at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O5_QUDQICIQ). Registrant’s YouTube channel includes another video showing the wake with and without the “SurfStar Universal.” See Exhibit 16 (video playable at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KBFFE2nEkcs>). Neither Registrant’s YouTube channel nor Registrant’s videos make any mention of wakeboard towers sold under the Trademark.

16. The undersigned also conducted a Google search for the terms “SURFSTAR WAKE” and “tower,” which mostly returned results relating to MasterCraft Boat Company’s Surf Star system and a couple of directory listings for Registrant’s Trademark. See Exhibit 17. None of the results show use of the Trademark in connection with wakeboard towers.
17. The exhibits discussed above are listed in the accompanying itemized index of evidence, which, where applicable, includes the URL for each exhibit and the date on which each exhibit was printed.

Sometimes your day is upside down!

July 2018
Fireworks - Mooresville, NC

An aerial view of a boat moving across a body of water, leaving a white wake. The background shows a shoreline with trees and some buildings. A large play button icon is centered over the boat. In the bottom right corner, there is a small '1:00' timer and a left-pointing arrow.

A person is holding a smartphone horizontally in the foreground, recording a water slide ride. The slide is a large, white, curved structure with multiple lanes. Water is splashing and spraying from the bottom of the slide. Several people are visible on the slide, some at the top and others further down. The background shows a clear blue sky and some greenery. The overall scene is bright and sunny.
